A Brutal Murder.

A homicide of the most brutal character occurred on the place of Dr. Moore, near Hagood, on last Thursday night. Commodore Council, without just cause or provocation killed Edmund Singleton by crushing his skull with a single blow with an axe. Council is a negro with a very bad reputation, while Singleton has always been regarded as a peacable and worthy man.

The excuse for the murder given by Council is that Singleton cursed him. The facts are that Council was cursing his wife and Singleton who happened to come up, remarked that he ought not to curse his wife so. Council cursed Singleton who replied in a like manome structure.

> Council went to a house near at hand and told a negro that he had hit Singleton with an axe, but did not know whether be was dead or not. He asked the negro to find out whether Singleton was dead or not and le him know. The negro went to where Singleton was, a small crowd having collected in the meantime, and found that he was dead. Upon learning this Council left and has not been seen since. Some persons think that he has gone to North Carolina where he has relatives, while others think he is hiding in Wateree Swamp Sheriff Sanders bas a constable hunting him, and if he long escapes

The investigation was made without giving previous notice to any of the witnesses. I requested the evidence taken down, the Governor called for it; now why was it necessary for our worthy Senator and Representative to run over to Columbia to explain to the Governor the most convincing evidence I ever heard? Were they afraid the Governor | 26. might understand it as I presume it was written? I am free to say that the evidence given that day would convict Mr. Moseley in any unprejudiced court. And Mr. Editor, if this be persecution then I merit your criticisms. I have followed your preaching and your example in trying to expose official misconduct. Those who are foremost in religion, science, and sociology, are already on the way to take part in a discussion such as the world has never known before. What barriers in religion may disappear, what progress be achieved in the problems of government, what advances made in the settlement of the broader ques tions affecting society, by this assemblage of the wise men of all nations! Is it too much to believe that the quickening of thought, which must result from such a congress, will hasten, beyond precedent, the progress of humanity? The Cosmopolitan for March is the first of the illustrated magazines to present the importance of this phase of the Columbian Exposition, in an article from the pen of Mrs. Henrotin, the brilliant vice-president of the Women's Branch of the World's Congress Auxiliary, in which our attention is turned from the more obvious objective features of the Exposition to some of the most interesting subjects of social reform.
